The 2009 Lusitano Collection - Part 2

Copyright 2008 Michael Steighner

Just before the guests arrived into the Equestrian Center Pavilion, the grounds were given a final combing in anticipation of the champion riders and the collection. And, given the fact that I know virtually nothing about horses, I am struggling with this fabrication of details.

One of the many tables strategically laid out for a perfect view of the horses up for bid.

ABOUT ME

MICHAEL STEIGHNER

I have been enjoying a recent explosion of interest in digital photography and imaging. As a lighting designer, I am used to being aware of illumination and the importance of it in creating ambiance and mood in any environment. This has helped me in my recent pursuit of image capture and refinement. I am also fortunate to have a career that permits me to travel to some incredible places.
